Chancellor's Message to the Graduates

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate each of you who is receiving a degree today. The College Park Campus community joins me in commending you on this singular accomplishment and in wishing you well in your future endeavors. We are proud of your success in achieving today's goal, and we hope that you carry the knowledge and talents you've developed into an exciting and challenging future.

Each of you, through your presence and participation, has made a contribution to the life of the College Park community. As you have grown and learned, those around you have learned from you. Now, by virtue of your achievements, you have an opportunity and a responsibility to enrich and enhance the world beyond the campus. I hope that each of you leaves this campus with both training for challenging work and the ability to be a clear-thinking, articulate, and compassionate member of our society.

As you pursue your goals and participate in other communities, I ask that you remember The University of Maryland College Park. This campus has set some important goals for itself and you can help us to achieve them. We want to continue to achieve and maintain academic excellence, to become a model multi-racial, multi-cultural, multi-generational community, and to improve the quality of life for all members of the campus community. Your continuing interest in College Park will help us to achieve those goals.

I congratulate you again on this special occasion and extend a warm welcome to friends and family who have come to share it with you. We take pride in each of our graduates and in the contributions you make to the larger community.

Schedule of Events

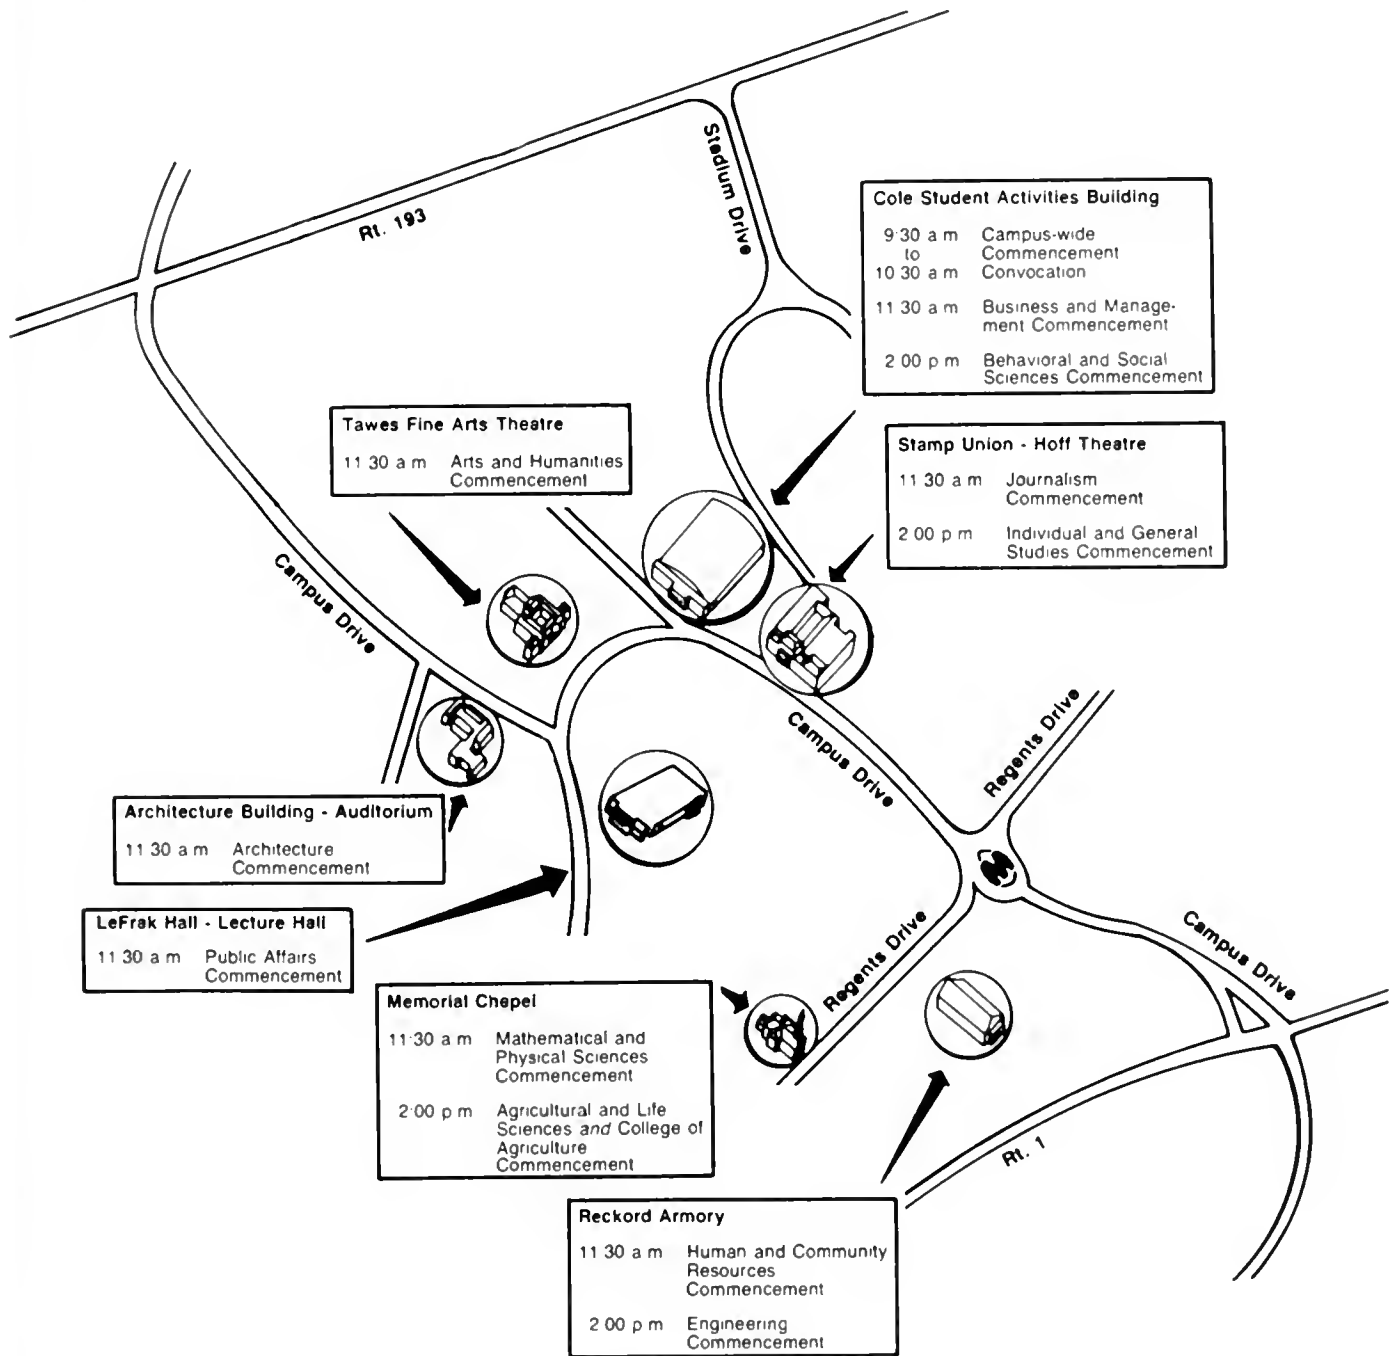

Following the Convocation, eleven separate commencement exercises will be held on campus by various academic units at different times and locations throughout the day. A map is provided on the opposite page, showing the time and location of each ceremony.

For the second year, the traditional single commencement exercise has been replaced by several individual ceremonies in which each graduate can be recognized. As a result, it is hoped that graduates and their families and friends will take more personal pleasure in this special occasion.

A campus-wide reception will be held on the mall for those academic units not sponsoring individual receptions. Free shuttle bus service will operate continuously throughout the day between various sections of the campus.

The College Park Campus and the University

The Graduates

Students being graduated today from The University of Maryland College Park follow in the footsteps of many notable UMCP graduates who have distinguished themselves in such fields as science, entertainment, art, journalism, business, law, medicine and government.

Astronaut Judith Resnik (Ph.D. '77), for one, received her doctorate in electrical engineering at the time NASA was choosing a handful of mission specialists for its upcoming space shuttle flights. Last year she flew with the 12th mission of the shuttle Discovery as the second American woman in space.

One of the youngest UMCP graduates ever, Charles Fefferman ('66), received a joint degree in mathematics and physics at the tender age of 17 and now is a world-class mathematician. He later received the Fields Medal, the most prestigious mathematics award, and is a professor of mathematics at Princeton.

NBC news anchor Connie Chung ('69) started her fast track at UMCP's Diamondback newspaper and WMUC radio station. She has reported for WTTG-Metromedia news, NBC's "Nightly News," and the CBS Washington and Los Angeles bureaus. She also has hosted NBC's "The Today Show."

One of the University's most devoted sons is A. James Clark ('50), president of the George Hyman Construction Co. and president and chairman of CEI Construction Inc., the umbrella organization for engineering and construction companies which include OMNI and Hyman. A member of the University's Board of Regents since 1981, Clark last year made a major contribution to the College of Engineering in the form of a challenge grant.

Other outstanding graduates include opera singer Carmen Balthrop ('71); Jim Henson ('60), creator of the Muppets; Maryland's 5th-District Congressman Steny Hoyer ('63); Tom McMillen ('74) of the Washington Bullets, who was a Rhodes scholar and member of the 1972 U.S. Olympic Team; Mary Stallings Coleman ('35), the first woman elected to the Supreme Court of Michigan, and top New York designer Ed Harney ('75), whose daring creations have graced the cover of Cosmopolitan magazine.

The Campus

College Park has one of the ten largest enrollments of any campus in the country. Undergraduates enrolled in fall 1984 numbered 30,231 and graduate students 8,076 for a total enrollment of 38,307. This year's College Park operating budget is approximately $284.2 million, including financial aid for some 19,000 students.

Students can choose from more than 125 undergraduate and 80 graduate programs leading to degrees. In 1983-84, a total of 5,173 bachelor's, 1,036 master's and 387 doctoral degrees were awarded by UMCP. In the number of doctorates granted annually, the University ranks among the top 30 in the nation.

History

The University began in Baltimore in 1807 as a faculty-owned College of Medicine, which granted the M.D. degree. Five years later, more degrees were added when the college was renamed The University of Maryland. The first dental school in America, the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, became a part of the University in 1840. Later, the University opened schools of pharmacy, law and nursing.

The College Park Campus opened in 1859 under a charter secured in 1856 by a group of Maryland planters. Then called the Maryland Agricultural College, it became one of the original land-grant schools in 1865. After a disastrous fire in 1912, the state acquired control of the College and paid to rebuild it.

The present form of The University of Maryland dates back to a 1920 act of the state legislature joining the state-owned institution at College Park with the professional schools in Baltimore. The move created The University of Maryland College Park (UMCP) and The University of Maryland at Baltimore (UMAB). Three other campuses have since been added: Baltimore County (UMBC) in Catonsville; Eastern Shore (UMES) in Princess Anne; and the worldwide University College (UMUC), headquartered in College Park.

Libraries

Libraries on the College Park Campus include approximately 1.5 million volumes, 19,600 subscriptions to periodicals and newspapers, and more than 1.5 million units of microform. The Hornbake (Undergraduate) Library, for one, is among the nation's largest, with a seating capacity of 3,600.

Research Facilities

Among the campus's exceptional research facilities are radiation research labs, a nuclear training reactor, scanning electron microscopes, subsonic and supersonic wind tunnels, and an electron ring accelerator. The University also has complete laboratories for the dynamic studies of soils and structures, a unique facility using remote sensing, a photomechanics lab, computer simulation and specialized sound chambers for audiology research. There is a psychopharmacology lab, a high-resolution spectroscopy facility, a criminal forensics lab, an astronomy observatory, and the Water Resources Research Center. There also is a gravitational radiation detection system including a gravimeter and three retroreflector arrays on the Moon. UMCP also operates one of the world's largest and most sophisticated long-wavelength radio telescopes, located at Clark Lake in southern California.

In addition to these research opportunities, programs in the behavioral sciences, social sciences and education exist in many bureaus and institutes, including the bureaus of Business and Economic Research, Educational Research and Field Services, and Governmental Research; and institutes for Child Study, Criminal Justice and Criminology, and Urban Studies.

Academic Costume

The black caps and gowns worn by the students and faculty in the academic procession have been the traditional costume of scholars since medieval times. They probably represent a kind of ecclesiastical dress, since many of the scholars of that period were members of monastic orders.

Most colleges and universities in the United States have adopted the uniform code for costumes drafted by an intercollegiate commission in 1893. Each of the three academic degrees—bachelor, master and doctor—has its own distinctive gown and hood. The bachelor's gown is distinguished by its long, pointed sleeve. The master's gown has a longer, more narrow, closed sleeve extending below the knee; the arm fits through a slit at the elbow. The doctor's gown has a full, bell-shaped sleeve trimmed with three bars of velvet. The velvet trim on the gowns can be black or a color indicating the wearer's general field of learning—for example, green for medicine or purple for law. A list of departmental colors follows.

Agriculture/Maize	Music/Pink
Arts, Letters, Humanities/White	Nursing/Apricot
Business Administration,	Oratory, Speech/Silver Gray
Commercial Science/Drab	Pharmacy/Olive
Dentistry/Lilac	Philanthropy/Rose
Economics/Copper	Philosophy/Dark Blue
Education/Light Blue	Public Administration,
Engineering/Orange	Foreign Service/Peacock Blue
Fine Arts, Architecture/Brown	Public Health/Salmon
Forestry/Russet	Physical Education/Sage Green
Home Economics/Maroon	Science/Golden Yellow
Journalism/Crimson	Social Work/Citron
Law/Purple	Theology and Divinity/Scarlet
Library Science/Lemon	Veterinary Sciences/Gray
Medicine/Green

The most colorful and distinctive part of the academic costume is the hood extending down the back. The doctor's is the largest of the hoods and the bachelor's is the smallest. The bachelor's hood is often omitted.

Silk lining of various colors in the center of the hood indicates the college or university which conferred the degree. Consistent for all degrees is the cap, or mortar board, which has a tassel of black or another color indicating the field of learning. The tassel of the doctor's cap can be gold.

Academic Degrees

A degree is awarded for the successful completion of a course of study. There are more than 1,600 different academic degrees currently conferred by colleges and universities nationwide.

The first known degree was a doctorate bestowed by the University of Bologna, Italy, in the mid-12th century. Originally, the doctor's and master's degrees were used interchangeably, each indicating that the holder was qualified to instruct students. The bachelor's, or baccalaureate, degree only indicated entrance into a course of study preparatory to the doctorate or mastership. Gradually, though, the bachelor's degree came to mean successful completion of one level of study in advance of the higher degrees.

The Doctor's Degree

The term "doctor," meaning teacher or instructor, originated with the ancient Romans for those who lectured publicly on philosophical topics. During the Middle Ages, it was used as a title of honor for men of great learning. It was first made an academic title at the University of Bologna, which was allowed by the emperor to appoint doctores legum (doctors of laws). The University of Paris followed suit in the year 1145. Soon after, popes granted the universities the right to appoint doctors canonum et decretalium (teachers of the canon law) and, when the study of civil law was combined with that of the canon law, the title was changed to doctor utriusque juris (teacher of both laws). The faculties of theology and medicine followed that of law in conferring this title.

A doctorate is given beyond the baccalaureate degree and requires several years of advanced study, the successful completion of a thesis or dissertation, and written and oral examinations. The doctor's degree represents the most advanced earned degree conferred by American institutions. There are two distinct types: the practitioner's degree and the research degree. The first type represents advanced training for the practice of various professions, principally Doctor of Medicine, Doctor of Dental Surgery, Doctor of Veterinary Medicine, Juris Doctor and Doctor of Pharmacy. These degrees carry no implication of original research. The University of Maryland awarded the first two dental degrees in history, on March 9, 1841, and invented the name of the degree, Doctor of Dental Surgery (D.D.S.).

The second type is a research doctorate representing prolonged periods of advanced study. A dissertation which usually accompanies the study is intended to contribute substantially to existing knowledge on the subject. The most important of these, the Doctor of Philosophy, no longer has an implication of philosophy for its holder, but represents advanced research in any of the major fields of knowledge. It was first awarded in the United States in 1861 by Yale University. The University of Maryland awarded a Ph.D. for the first time in 1920.

The Master's Degree

The master's degree is an academic honor bestowed upon students who have successfully completed work beyond the baccalaureate. A thesis and an oral examination are usually required. The word magister was used by the Romans as a title of honor, but its present meaning can be traced to the establishment of the oldest universities. Organized faculties as they now exist in universities were not known then; academic activity was limited to seven liberal arts. Those who were honored for their diligence and knowledge upon completion of their studies and who had already received the bachelor's degree were called magistri artium (masters of the liberal arts). In 1920, The University of Maryland awarded its first Master of Arts (M.A.) and Master of Science (M.S.) degrees in fields other than agriculture.

The Bachelor's Degree

The bachelor's degree represents completion of a four-year course of college-level study and is the oldest academic degree used by American institutions of higher learning. It was the first conferred in America in 1642 on the first nine graduates of Harvard College. Maryland Agricultural College, which later became The University of Maryland College Park, awarded its first Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) and Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degrees in 1862.

Peter Francis O'Malley

Honorary Doctor of Public Service and Convocation Speaker

The day that Peter F. O'Malley was named to The University of Maryland Board of Regents in 1975 has become a landmark for a decade of major gains in the University's reputation.

With O'Malley as chairman from 1979 to 1982, the Board of Regents has become one of the most active governing boards of any major university in the country, and his leadership has been widely praised by educators statewide.

During his tenure from 1975 to 1983, the dollar amount of scholarships based on academic achievement, for example, rose from about $4,400 to nearly $545,000. Admission standards were raised three times, and the number of National Merit Scholars at the College Park Campus grew from just three in 1978 to 89 in 1983.

The lawyer from Prince George's County has long stood out as "a bright, hard-working, questioning, progressive-minded (Regents) member," according to the Baltimore Sun, (June 24, 1979). "(O'Malley is) a politically sensitive and savvy person. . . attuned to public sensibilities, legislative talent and sectional interests throughout Maryland."

Even before he was elected chairman, it was clear that O'Malley wanted the Regents to be the "advance guards" in the University's drive to improve. And he consistently urged that the pace of the drive be quickened. Formerly a Democratic Party leader in Prince George's County, he had an excellent background for providing the skilled leadership that could unite various factions within the University.

Having resigned from the Board of Regents in 1983, a year after he stepped down as chairman, O'Malley then became the first lay chairman of the Board of Trustees of his alma mater, Mount St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md. He had served on the board since 1976 and was chairman until 1984. O'Malley continues as managing partner for the law firm of O'Malley, Miles, Farrington and McCarthy in the county seat of Upper Marlboro. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the Maryland State Bar Association, the Prince George's County Bar Association, and the American Judicature Society. He has been a member of the board of directors of the Washington-Baltimore Regional Association and director of the Capital Centre and Rosecroft Raceway. He also belonged to the board which drafted a new charter for the Prince George's County government.

O'Malley was born in Clinton, Mass. He graduated from Mount St. Mary's College in 1960 and received an LL.B. degree from Georgetown Law Center in 1965. He and his wife, Janice, live in Clinton, Md., and have five children: Peter, Kathleen, Susan, Mary, and Jennifer.

O'Malley today receives the honorary degree of Doctor of Public Service.

Augustus F. Hawkins

Honorary Doctor of Laws

Since the early days of the Civil Rights Movement, U.S. Congressman Augustus (Gus) F. Hawkins (D-Calif.) has been a vigorous advocate of equality in education and employment.

In 1962, after serving in the California state legislature for 28 years, Hawkins was elected the state's first black member of the U.S. House of Representatives. He was the first black member of Congress to be elected from any western state, representing the 29th District of south central Los Angeles, a largely Democratic area populated mainly by Blacks and Hispanics.

Throughout his career, Hawkins has worked patiently and effectively through the legislative system for jobs, education and equal opportunity for all. Now, as the senior member of the Congressional Black Caucus, he continues to be a determined and steady spokesman for change.

Hawkins has always prided himself on campaigning on issues of economics rather than race. During a political career that spans more than half a century, he has been a major promoter of job legislation. By any measure of legislative activity, he has been extraordinarily productive, having authored more than 100 laws which reflect a sensitivity to people's needs.

While in the California state legislature, he wrote bills which established a minimum wage for women, disability insurance, and the Fair Housing Act. He also chaired the powerful Rules Committee and the Senate and Assembly Joint Legislative Organization Committee, the highest committee position in the state legislature.

As a U.S. congressman, he is probably best known for co-sponsoring the 1978 Humphrey-Hawkins bill which mandates a federal economic policy that strives for full employment and sets forth strong anti-discrimination provisions. In 1983, he introduced what Politics in America called "the most sweeping jobs bill on the legislative market"—a $10 billion program to employ a million people. In an earlier session of Congress, he proposed to create a $1 billion National Economic Adjustment Program to bring jobs to poor communities. Most recently, Hawkins has reintroduced bills to establish an educational effectiveness program and a Youth Employment Incentive Act.

Probably his most important achievement as a member of Congress to date has been authoring Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, which mandated fair employment practices and created the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC). Since then, as chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor, he has fought to protect and strengthen the commission. He also chairs the Subcommittee on Elementary, Secondary and Vocational Education and is a member of the Joint Economic Committee.

Hawkins was born in Shreveport, La. His family moved to Los Angeles when he was 11. Hawkins earned an undergraduate degree in economics from the University of California at Los Angeles and attended graduate classes at the University of Southern California's Institute of Government. He is married to Elsie Taylor Hawkins.

Today he receives the Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree.

St. Clair Wright

Honorary Doctor of Public Service

One of Maryland's best-known champions of historic preservation is St. Clair Wright, a familiar face everywhere from the state legislature to the most modest historic society.

As chairwoman of the board of Historic Annapolis Inc., Wright has been responsible for the continuing restoration of Old Town Annapolis. As a result of her work, the Old Town section has been designated one of only three registered historic landmark districts in the State of Maryland.

A combination of historian, archaeologist, city planner and public relations practitioner, Wright has formed a powerful citizen lobby of hundreds of volunteers who keep watch over land use proposals and proceedings and set guidelines for new owners of Annapolis historic property. The group has developed into a sort of resident research unit comprised of architectural specialists, legal experts and financiers who again and again have thwarted plans to change or destroy historic buildings. Led by Wright, they take action not at the moment when an actual demolition team appears, but at the more crucial time when land use proposals are mere pencil marks on a zoning map.

The Baltimore Sun (Oct. 10, 1982) has called the group "a major factor in the city's exuberant downtown comeback." Annapolis is considered a model of what restoration projects can accomplish, both for historical purposes and for the economic benefits to the area.

The project has become a reality through Wright's countless hours of unpaid work and her association with many other preservation groups. She has been chairwoman of the William Paca Garden Committee, a director of the Nature Conservancy, and a member of the board of Preservation Action and the Southern Garden History Society. She is a trustee of the Maryland Environmental Trust and an advisor to the National Trust for Historic Preservation. She also belongs to the Annapolis Coordinating Committee on Beautification, the Governor's Maryland Scenic Beauty Commission, and the Mid-Atlantic Regional Advisory Committee of the U.S. National Park Service.

Since the 1950s, she has headed a massive drive that has raised nearly $25 million for restoration projects—including $2 million for the magnificent Paca House. It was during the 1950s that Historic Annapolis Inc. began drafting a detailed inventory of the city's buildings. The society's headquarters now contain huge files of the physical history, as far as it is known, of every structure in central Annapolis.

Wright was born in Virginia, earned a B.A. from the Maryland Institute in 1932 and is married to Capt. J. M. P. Wright (U.S. Navy, ret.).

Today she receives the honorary degree of Doctor of Public Service.

Candidates for Degrees

The May 1985 class roster comprises degree candidates from the undergraduate and graduate programs at The University of Maryland College Park. As final action cannot always be taken for candidates by the time this program is printed, the list of candidates here is tentative only. The University reserves the right to withdraw or add names. Diplomas (for other than doctoral degrees) will be mailed by the Candidate Clearance Office.

Students who have earned their degrees from the College of Education may obtain a Statement of Certificate Eligibility in the College of Education, Student Services Office (Room 1210). Other students who have completed teacher education programs will receive their statements in the mail (separate from the diploma) upon verification of required coursework.

Scholarship Honors

Bachelor's degree candidates who have qualified for scholarship honors upon graduation are designated by appropriate symbols adjacent to their names within the alphabetical listings of divisions, colleges or schools.

To be eligible for consideration for such honors a candidate must meet the following general criteria: (1) have completed at least two years of work at The University of Maryland (60 semester hours, 30 of which were at College Park) and (2) have a scholastic average of B (grade point average of 3.000) or higher in University of Maryland work prior to the last semester of registration before award of degree.

May 1985 candidates who have met these criteria are shown in the listings as qualifying, upon graduation, for the designations summa cum laude (if they ranked in the top two percent of the candidates in their respective divisions, colleges or schools), magna cum laude (if in the next three percent), or cum laude (if in the next five percent), based on the grade point averages of students in the preceding three graduating classes of their degree-granting unit.
